(Tune: It's The Real Thing)

We'd like to help Pilipinos live
In perfect harmony

As honest as can be.

The 4-Way Test is what we offer
To guide their way through life
It teaches them to tell the truth
And not to tell a lie.

Refrain:

It's the 4-Way Test
It's Rotary's way
We're all proud to say
It's the 4-Way Test

We'd like to help Philippines grow
In the most beneficial ways
And bring Pilipinos all together
In harmony and peace.

Rotary Notes

PP Benny P. De Guzman

We start this Rotary week with sad news. Anyway, with this pandemic around us, there seems to be nothing pleasant. Every one seems to be scared of getting the Covid-19 and the scare is everywhere. The hardest hit are the medium and small businesses as many were closed. On the family side, you hear of illnesses or even deaths every now and then.

Ruby Alberto, past president of ARAP, who succumbed to Covid-19 early this week is the saddest news. The partially good news? Her husband, former member Joe is now recovering. PP Bert Tayengco and spouse Boots also got the dreaded virus and both are doing well. They kept adequate distancing. More than adequate as Boots is in the Lung Center and PP Bert is at home.

In our home front, PP Ed was in our meeting last week. But his kind of illness may require hospital confinement every now and then. Dir Sonny, Rtn Johann and spouse Karla and the son of Rtn Roehl are on the faster road to recovery. From Rtn Bebert, the entire family of his dad and our member as well, Rtn Cesar are all well now. Super ingat is the name of the game. Even if all of us in our family have been fully vaccinated, we still have to keep our distance. Especially from the bill collectors.

It is sad news to hear from PRID Raffy that a fire destroyed the ancestral house of spouse Minda in Dinras, Ilocos. I did not place Sur or Norte as I am poor in geography. It is costlier to restore these mansion-like homes as the woods are hard to source mostly from old houses that are not for sale. But there was a historical marker there that the officials of the town may deem it worthwhile to restore. The noted architect restoring old houses and churches is still alive but has Alzheimer. I think he is not even aware that he is an architect.

The blood letting project that I endorsed for Pangkat 3 Head Bart but LCP Garrick still placed it as sponsored by me. Not an exceptional project but a me too one but very useful in any civic club. It can be a small but continuous project. Now that our President Duterte is picking up on the Red Cross not the organization itself but the Chair, Dick Gordon, it may well be for us to initiate a saliva test for our various community to start a real Covid-19 prevention project. I am sure we can work out almost 25% of the cost of swabbing and the results are practically the same at 98-100% certain.

Are we sure we will ask bring one member each? Why not all directors two each instead. You sure you are ready for a 200 member club with 85% not knowing each other due to these zoom meetings. When times are normal, then we go to normal doable projects. How about balik-Rotarians especially PPs?

The joke on our Edgar because of late age boil is not to rest. He is back. The good news is that it is not easily transmitted. Safe tayong lahat.

Our guest speaker last week, a real looker, Ms. Vivien Reyes is an excellent communicator. One look lang. One look at you and you will know you have to stay put and not even try.

WORDS FOR THE FUTURE

Rotary is forging a path to full literacy in India
by Vanessa Glavinskas

Long before he became Rotary International's president, Shekhar Mehta was known for setting ambitious goals.

His reputation for successfully tackling difficult problems is why, in 2014, former RI president Kalyan Banerjee asked him to lead an effort to make India fully literate — a goal that has eluded the Indian government as well as many NGOs.

“I realized making a country literate is no easy task,” says Mehta, who defines full literacy as an overall rate of 95 percent or above for those aged 7 and up. (The government of India estimates India's current literacy rate among that group at 78 percent.) “But I strongly believe in Gandhi's view that if you find the goal, the means will follow.”

An accountant and real estate developer, Mehta didn't enter the endeavor with any experience in education. “I had no clue, no background in education at all,” he says. He spent about nine months learning from experts before founding the Rotary India Literacy Mission (RILM), a nonprofit that aims to strengthen and standardize Rotary clubs' literacy initiatives across India.

To accomplish this, RILM created a program of service projects that it encourages clubs across India to take on with the nonprofit's support and mentorship. The projects are built around the acronym TEACH, which stands for teacher support, e-learning, adult literacy, child development, and happy schools (which focuses on infrastructure improvements). “We think every school should be a school where our own children would be happy to study,” says Kamal Sanghvi, who was an RI director from 2019 to 2021 and chairs RILM now that Mehta is RI president.

Following the model that made India’s polio eradication campaign a success, coordinators promoted the TEACH program in Rotary zones and districts in the country. RILM staff created manuals and organized trainings, and now nearly every club in India works on a project to support at least one aspect of the TEACH program. “The momentum picked up so beautifully,” Sanghvi says. “Rotarians understand that for any nation to achieve greatness, you need a high literacy level.”

The combined efforts of hundreds of Rotary clubs, plus their partner organizations, have added up to large-scale results. To date, an estimated 7 million children are benefiting from RILM’s teacher training component alone. The program’s overall reach is enormous.

“Training, standardization, and developing partnerships — these are the three things that make the program work,” Mehta says.

Due to its impact, Rotary India Literacy Mission gained name recognition, which recently led to its largest initiative yet — working with the Indian government to create and distribute free e-learning content to children who were out of school because of the COVID-19 pandemic.

“In a lot of areas in India, internet penetration is very poor,” explains Biswajit Ghosh, RILM’s chief operating and strategy officer. “And the government was struggling to provide online education for the masses.” That’s when Ghosh says Rotary “put up its hand” and offered to facilitate the creation of high-quality multimedia content for grades 1-12.

RILM worked with a video production company to create the content, covering the cost through donations and sponsorships so that e-learning would be free to the nation.

In 2020, India’s government began broadcasting the Rotary-sponsored content on several TV channels — one per grade — in both English and Hindi. The lessons were available to about 100 million students across India, Ghosh estimates.

The goal now is to get the same multimedia curriculum translated into more of India’s languages and to provide the software to every public school in India. “The level of education in the villages is far lower than in the cities,” explains Sanghvi. “In the city, they simply have better access to technology and knowledge.”

But while a large-scale rollout of e-learning could help lessen this disparity, it will only work if teachers know how to use the software. That’s where the “T” in TEACH comes in. “We’re training teachers across India,” Sanghvi says, adding that the urgency to do so became apparent as soon as India went into its pandemic lockdown. “Many teachers didn’t know how to start a Zoom,” Sanghvi says.

The nonprofit works with partner organizations to provide the e-learning training and also offers an award to teachers who excel — as judged by their students and the school principal. It works like this: Rotary clubs survey local students, and that feedback is the basis on which a teacher is selected to win a Nation Builder award. Teachers who score poorly are targeted for future club-sponsored training programs. “We learn which teachers are outstanding and who needs to get their skills upgraded,” Sanghvi says. “It’s a win-win for us.”

Despite RILM’s success in improving literacy among children, India will not be able to achieve total literacy without addressing its estimated 287 million illiterate adults, who make up about one-third of the world’s illiterate-adult population.

Sanghvi says that illiterate adults have not been served well by government efforts to increase India’s literacy rate. So RILM facilitated the publication of a small workbook and primer that will help adults take the first step toward “functional literacy” — being able to read street signs and write their name, among other basic skills.

Local clubs distributed this primer to students, and asked that “each one, teach one” — in other words, a child with a family member who cannot read or write could use this primer as a tool to teach them the basics. “The schoolchildren were excited,” Sanghvi says. “They’d say, ‘Oh gosh, I’m going to become a teacher!’”

RILM’s goal is to make every Indian citizen at least functionally literate — able to engage in the everyday activities in their community that require basic literacy. The pandemic forced RILM to extend its deadline by two years. The group now hopes to achieve this goal by 2027.

It’s an ambitious goal, Mehta concedes, but “Rotary is thriving in India,” he says. “So, we need to dream.”
