From the President

Pres. Bong Paloma

Good afternoon RCP!

Last week we had a blast with a very energetic speaker from Chicago – Mr. Howard Wallach, aka Chicago’s Top Dawg. He shared 7 points on developing positive habits to make us a successful and better version of ourselves. Indeed positive habits are essential in building a person’s character and character will shape our destiny.

Going back to our theme this month - Water, Sanitation and Hygiene, today, we will hear from one of the CEOs of Metro Manila's water concessionaires speak about how his company, Manila Water Company is transforming managed clean water sources and distribution and at the same time promoting proper sanitation and hygiene across the country. Water is becoming a scarce resource. He will remind us to conserve water because it is not an infinite resource. I used to live in BF Paranaque and I experienced how difficult life was back then when water came in trickles and on most days, rationed. That has all changed today though. However, if we don’t use it responsibly, we might lose such luxury one day,

Discon 2023 is finally over and many RCP Rotarians showed their support and attended the Discon last Friday and Saturday. The highlight of the event was the zone competition play contests. All the zones came in prepared with costumes and matching accessories, making it a big production play worth watching and the night ended with a song number from the B T S (Bobby Tanyag Singers) which counts Gov. Bobby as one of the performers. It was a great night! And the food did not disappoint.

The next stop is DISTAS on April 15 and 16, at Baguio Country Club, Baguio City. Let us support our PE Adolf by attending DISTAS.

Lastly, please pray for the healing and recovery of our charter member PP Peping Mabanta who is recovering in the hospital after experiencing severe vomiting.

Thank you for joining us today. Stay strong and healthy!

Rotary Notes

PP Benny P. De Guzman

A prayerful club like ours had a good chance for more healings for two accomplished retired professionals. PP Ferd a retired first class surgeon had intense internal pains while in Australia on a world cruise and had to go back to the US for his full recovery. A retired engineer who was active in the Cabinet as Undersecretary of Public Works had his challenge also. PP Peping is the unusual type as even in his wheelchair, he never is absent for our regular meetings. This noon, we will find out if indeed, he needs some more rest in the hospital. Even Taong Bakal PRID Raffy must know how to take it easy.

Our attendance even with zoom is not as good. Attendance is the foundation of fellowship. Balut King Albert will be a birthday boy later this month before PP Peter's and he will not only be a Balut King as may penoy din kayong lahat. If Doc Ato, Rtn Dante and HOF/PP Doc Jess are not around, less lively ang meetings.

We learn many infos from PP Peter and many are wisely presented which you can meaningfully share in other gatherings. Can you imagine knowing that the landing on the moon was even earlier than placing wheels on suitcases?

On the human relations side. Two men of the cloth gave importance to their parents. One of our priest members held fear for his dad so even his prayers could not proceed smoothly due to this fear. Both expressed their very high regards for their moms.

Despite many who were inducted during the pandemic years, we need a good fellowship, perhaps two or three so we can meet at least meet our newer members.

It was on the Araw ng Kagitingan that our fist HOF went to the Great Beyond. Her gracious widow set up the Kalag Luksa on the 15th of April. A transport brigade must be organized as some ARAP members are attending too.

In one of the bigger schools in Pampanga, I was invited to be in the Board of Trustees for their reaching out. They initiated the First Philippine CSR magazine for citizenship sustainability and responsibility. Even the bishop of their province even encouraged and actively participated. They initiated Innovative Filipino Awards, campus tours up to Visayas and Mindanao, disaster response network, microplastic awareness projects. Out of the many projects, the administrator of Magsaysay Foundation who before handled the many awards committees of ABS-CBN network invited the Chair to be part of their Board of Trustees. In between meetings, she asked how I became too involved. I told her I started from the Mt. Pinatubo rehab project that was going on then. When we talked ab out Tony Meloto, I told her that our very own PRID Raffy when we visited Tony in his Paraiso Farms, on the spot offered one million pesos and Tony made him his brand ambassador for his One Philippines. If Raffy had been missed as a Magsaysay awardee, he can be part of their Board especially since from inception the foundation was recipient annually of Rockefeller contributions. But for the last 15 years, they had been completely out. It will be nice if good projects and proponents meet every now and then for meaningfully reaching out to more in a synergistic manner.

RECIPIENT OF ROTARY'S NEW SYLVIA WHITLOCK LEADERSHIP AWARD TAKES A GLOBAL APPROACH

The first recipient of Rotary International's Sylvia Whitlock Leadership Award, Chin Mei Lu of the Rotary Club of Taipei Taimei, Taiwan, has spent more than 30 years working for women, girls, and others around the world. She has helped educate girls in Nepal, immunized children in India, supported girls in Uganda who have learned to sew menstrual belts, and helped people in Taiwan who are blind.

"We as Rotarians are like lantern-carrying people in the dark corners of society, bringing light to others and helping make the world a brighter place," Lu says.

The Sylvia Whitlock Leadership Award honors one Rotary member each year who has actively worked to advance women in Rotary. It is named for the first female Rotary club president, who went on to lead change for women around the world through Rotary. The award was originally established by a group of Rotarians before the Board of Directors voted to make it an official RI award.

Lu, who has been a Rotary member for three decades, traveled to Nepal and India in 2006-07 to assist with a project that enabled girls who didn't have housing to attend school. She cooperated with local agencies to obtain supplies, food, uniforms, and sponsorship funds for the girls, many of whom were at risk of being trafficked into sex work or child labor.

"Three years later, there were girls who were once helped by Rotary going back to assist other girls in need," says 2014-15 RI President Gary C.K. Huang, who nominated Lu for the award.

Lu has also promoted a service project in Uganda begun by her son, Kelvin Wang, who is a member of the Rotary E-Club of Taipei Midtown. Rotary members in Taiwan sent fabric menstrual belts to Ugandan girls, many of whom couldn't attend school because they lacked these supplies. The project provided sewing machines, taught girls how to sew belts for themselves, and promoted menstrual health overall.

Lu has a particular interest in assisting people who are blind or have partial vision. A senior member of the Arts Promotion Association for the Disabled of Taiwan, she helped establish a rehabilitation center for the blind, which offers educational and employment assistance. She has set up rural medical centers and made it possible for musicians who are blind or have partial sight to buy instruments.

These musicians are often very sensitive to pitch, but many don't have the funds to buy new instruments for practice, she says. "I proposed a Rotary Foundation grant helping them to replace old musical instruments with new ones. Our action has had an enduring impact in the community."

Lu also collaborated with Rotary clubs in Nepal and India on clean water and sanitation projects. In 2011, she returned to India to join local volunteers in campaigns to immunize children against polio and other diseases that can be prevented by vaccines.

"Some kids would move back to the end of queue again after the drip," she says. "They tried to remove the mark from their little fingers very carefully, because if they got vaccinated again, they could get another small bowl of flour."

Outside Rotary, Lu's philanthropic efforts include working with World Vision International in Romania to provide school supplies and visit children she has helped. "There was no road for the car. I had to get down and walk — my feet were covered with mud," she recalls. "After visiting the children's home and school, I helped the school replace all the blackboards and classroom bulbs."

Lu has also served as world vice president of the women's business group Femmes Chefs d'Entreprises Mondiales, vice president of the National Council of Women of Taiwan, and president of two local business groups. She has received numerous national and international awards, including the International Alliance for Women's World of Difference Award and the Acquisition International magazine's Influential Businesswoman Award.

Nominations for the Sylvia Whitlock Leadership Award are open from 1 August to 30 September each year. Any member can nominate another member in good standing.

Forgiveness, Not Vengeance

I remember in the '80's, most Filipino action movies dealt with stories of revenge or retribution. It seems that vengeance is a kind of justice we Filipinos prefer. But for us, who knows what justice really mean as a human person if not a Catholic or Christian, vengeance is not the answer. In fact, one oriental proverb says, "Before you embark on a journey of revenge, dig two graves." Meaning to say, if you want to commit something evil against someone who done you wrong, then prepare to pay the consequences. So if not vengeance, then what is the best response to evil.

Forgiveness is the answer. In fact, according to the Gospel according to Luke, "Forgive, and you will be forgiven (Luke 6:37). Thus, if we forgive truly anyone who has done us wrong, then we will also be forgiven by our God. It sounds easier said than done but that is the teaching of our Lord. Thus, forgiving our enemies will really require much of our humility, courage, and grace from God to do so because forgiveness requires our whole person. We not only forgive from our minds but from our innermost selves. That's why, those who know how to forgive have the strongest character of all.

So, let's forgive anyone who has wronged us sincerely. And should we find forgiving others difficult at the moment, at least let's not hurt others in word or deed. Nevertheless, we are all called to have strong character in ourselves, and forgiving fellow sinners is one of the best practices to develop that.
