Song of the Day

Roll out the Beer Barrel Polka Lyrics

by Bobby Vinton

There's a garden, what a garden
Only happy faces bloom there
And there's never any room there
For a worry or a gloom there

Oh there's music and there's dancin'
And a lot of sweet romancin'
When they play the polka
They all get in the swing

Every time they hear that oom-pa-pa
Everybody feels so tra-la-la
They want to throw their cares away
And (Polish) "Loopde shpay devashteva"

Then they hear a rumble on the floor
It's the big surprise they're waitin' for
And all the couples form a ring
Und miles around you'll hear them sing

CHORUS:

ROLL OUT THE BARREL, we'll have a barrel of fun
ROLL OUT THE BARREL, I've got the blues on the run
Sing boom tara rel, sing out a song of good cheer
Now's the time to ROLL OUT THE BARREL, cause the gang's all here

Pres. Bong Paloma

Good afternoon RCP!

Welcome again to our Thursday club meeting. I hope to see better attendance this week as most of us prepare for a long Holy week break starting April 3.

For Christians, Holy week is the most sacred week in our liturgical year that begins in Lent. Lent is a 40-day prayer, fasting, and almsgiving season that starts on Ash Weds and ends at sundown on Holy Thursday.

As Rotarians, we are a people of action, and service is at the core of everything we do in Rotary, and this is what keeps us busy most of the time.

So this coming holy week, I urge everyone to feel the the peace and quiet that comes with the season, and spend time in prayer, reflecting on the passion, suffering, and death of our Lord Jesus Christ and thanking Him for all the blessings we received and for keeping us all safe.

Last week, we listened to the beautiful and winningest coach of NU Pep Squad, Ms. Ghicka Bernabe Christoff. And we learned that although winning is substantial, the journey of how you get there matters the most. It is not about being strict and disciplinarian that makes your squad or players follow you, but your empathy and desire to uplift everyone inspire them. A caring heart, a listening ear, and your ability to harness every member's potential to the fullest will create real champions.

Continuation 1.

Today, we have a gentleman and an officer as our guest speaker. He will remind us on how to prepare for natural or man-made calamities and disasters. Recently, we all witnessed natural calamities (earthquakes and flooding) in other parts of the world; it's no longer a question of where but when it will happen in the Philippines. We all know that the Philippines is one of the most disaster-prone countries in the world. We are located along the Pacific ring of fire and are highly susceptible to seismic and volcanic risks. We are also one of the most cyclone-prone countries in the world, lying on what is often described as the 'Typhoon Belt'. We experience, on average, around 15 typhoons every year. Thus, we should practice mitigating these risks with a proactive risk management program with a significant focus on preparedness and resilience building.

Our speaker today will share his thoughts on the steps we can take on disaster preparedness and will give us an idea of whether our government has done enough to prepare its citizens.

Thank you for coming and enjoy the rest of the week!

Bong

Rotary Notes

PP Benny P. De Guzman

How nice and easy to type my column now with a typewriter with ribbon already. For three years, I was just using carbon paper and making the editing work of PP Peter much harder. Anyway, birthday boy last Monday Peter adjusted very well. How comforting when in a rare invitation of a 90 years old kumpare who owned for many years the lone typewriter shop in Manila gave me me a big break by fixing my old reliable typewriter.

There are plenty of warnings to many of us about dehydration and the need to frequently drink water even if not thirsty because of the long hot summer we are facing. Our Noble Men of Pasig viber group exchanged notes on how a 49 years old vice president of GSIS died while playing basketball. No, not of high blood pressure but of heart attack. And this is fair warning to many of us “na akala natin kaya pa”. The heat is deadly but dehydration is deadlier.

The “baba luksa” of first Hall of Famer Rhett is to be delayed a few days due to the Holy Week, Due to the time constraint and the need to coordinate with ARAP, let the Board of Directors and the original Hall of Famers handle the affair by coordinating with spouse Bella and PP RJ. Baka some Rotarians have bigger transport vans to improve the fellowship and attendance. With PPs Rhett and Proning Ona, both noted Batanguenos already gone, another from Batangas left us. She is the spouse of PP Proning, Atty Fe Calanog Ona. The wake is using three rooms at Heritage Park and will be up to 31st March. Inurnment will be on 1st April.

PP Jun brought the Barangay Captain Richard Pua of Barangay Oranbo last March 16 meeting. I hope he is sponsoring the guy whose barangay is where VVCC is located.

A surprise is that Rtn Dante also brought a guest. Who? Your guess is as good as mine.

I was requesting PP Tito for some details about his apo who got three gold medals and a silver in an international gymnastics competition in Bangkok just last Saturday. Except for our usual text congratulations, there were no additional news details that our eager spouses are raring to hear.

PDG Benny Ricafort, charter president of our first daughter club celebrated quite a milestone last Tuesday, their club meeting pa. It was his 85th birthday the day before and spouse Nona's 80th and the 28th was their 60th wedding anniversary. Congratulations on your Grand Slam and more achievements for this wonderful pair. A bishop and three priests made sure Benny will stick to his words. He was drinking a lot after. To celebrate of course!

FIRST ROTARACT RPIC TALKS ABOUT CREATIVITY, COMMUNITY, AND HATS

On an ordinary day last August, people at a park in Copenhagen, Denmark, saw something extraordinary: a stream of runners all adorned with floating, bobbing pink balloons. The balloon carriers were part of Run With Rotaract, a three-year-old event organized by District 1470's Rotaract clubs. This year, it raised money for education in Malawi.

The balloons served as tickets for the approximately 65 participants. And, says Philip Flindt, a member of the Rotaract Club of København Nord, they performed the equally important function of attracting public attention.

“It created something weird for people to look at — people running with pink balloons,” Flindt says. “It was a way to reach people in the community around the park. They were asking, ‘Is this a bachelor party, a bachelorette party? Why are you running with these balloons?’”

Flindt never seems to lack creative, eye-catching ideas. It's clear why he's the Rotary public image coordinator for Zone 18, the first Rotaractor to serve as an RPIC. He's been promoting Rotaract since he helped found his club on 13 March 2013. That date, he's quick to note, is the anniversary of the certification of the first Rotaract club in 1968.

“Philip is a fantastic advocate for Rotaract,” says Becky Giblin, a dual member of the Rotaract Club of Auckland City, New Zealand, and the Rotary Club for Global Action District 5150.

Walking the Avenues

PP Jun C. Zafra

“When he’s given an opportunity, he not only represents all Rotaractors in the best way possible, but he works to make sure other Rotaractors are given similar opportunities.”

As one of Rotaract’s biggest fans, Flindt is always seeking ways for it to grow and thrive. At the height of the COVID-19 pandemic, he was part of a group that started World of Rotaract, a 24-hour-a-day video call to keep people connected. It eventually evolved into a worldwide network.

“At first, the point was to make sure people were well — to just talk to each other,” Flindt says. “We hosted conferences for 500 people. We had online parties. I’m a DJ, so I played about 10 parties online for a couple hundred people. We had talks, we had game nights, we had movie nights. It became a way to work together, all because we got to know each other on Zoom.”

World of Rotaract has helped people cooperate on projects and has generated very close bonds, Giblin says, including her friendship with Flindt.

“It has built a level of trust and friendship that is surprising, considering we have never met in person,” she says. “The World of Rotaract team is not just a community, but a family that is spread out to all corners of the world.”

Failing fast and sharing hats

To find successful new ideas, like World of Rotaract, Flindt recommends using an entrepreneurial, “fail fast” approach.

“Get all the bad ideas out of the way as fast as possible, and run with the ideas that work,” he says. “When you do a project, don’t just think about the project. Put on your ‘membership’ hat, your ‘foundation’ hat, and your ‘public image’ hat at the same time. Or get together in a group and share the hats.”

All this hat-switching has led to initiatives like one that supports the Give Every Child a Future campaign. GECAF aims to vaccinate 100,000 children in nine Pacific Island countries to protect them from human papillomavirus, rotavirus, and pneumococcal bacteria. For an event called Move for GECAF, Rotaractors got moving — literally. They flooded social media with pictures and videos of people running, dancing, doing pushups, or holding signs showing how much money they’d raised.

Flindt likes projects that accomplish several goals at once. He says the success of Run With Rotaract wasn’t just in the US$2,000-3,000 it raised.

“We didn’t just fund a scholarship for a student in Malawi. We created awareness in our local community,” he says. “It’s about creating impact. If you couldn’t run, you could walk, or join the crowd of onlookers. We had people who were pregnant, we had kids in strollers — all different types of people. That’s kind of the fourth point of Rotary’s Action Plan, the ability to adapt to the environment.”

Flindt has learned a lot since he became an RPIC. Zone 18, which includes his home country of Denmark, as well as the Faroe Islands, Greenland, Iceland, Lithuania, Norway, Poland, and Sweden, is extremely diverse. Recognizing this, Flindt is reconsidering his initial plan to refrain from spending much of his budget on travel.

“I see that I need to get out there,” he says. “I need to go to the districts, to be there physically. I need to create these connections and make sure we’re communicating.”

Wheat not Weeds

Lent: a time for an intense prayer

One of the resounding messages of the Catholic Church to all her members during Lent is intense prayer. Going back to the Gospel reading at the opening day of Lent last Ash Wednesday from the gospel of Matthew 16:1-18, Jesus spent 40 days of prayer with fasting. In line with this, it is therefore necessary to revisit and examine how do we pray to God. While there are other types of prayer, the most widely utilized one is oral prayer wherein one focuses much on praying the novenas for the saints, offer intercessory prayers or reading spiritual books, meditative prayer is another type which is very personal in nature and enables us to manifest a more matured and intimate expression of faith in God. Meditative prayer is discursive in character because it utilizes our reasoning power to fathom the Word of God and understand what is He telling us in a personal level. It enlightens the person about the doctrines of the church as he/she tries to make sense its meaning to his/her life as a disciples of Jesus.

Why we must adopt Meditative prayer as a way of communicating with God?

First of all, it manifests genuine sincerity. Experience tells us that we can very well say that a person is interested with you if he/she listens to you talking and sharing stories and ask clarificatory questions.

Wheat not Weeds

By: Rtn. Fr. Jojo Opinio

Continuation 1.

Secondly, meditative prayer manifests genuine love. Love presupposes knowledge. It grows as you continue to know and understand the one loved.

Finally, meditative prayer manifests genuine discipleship. According to St. Ignatius of Loyola, we must listen to Him very intently, to understand Him with clarity, love Him more dearly and follow Him more closely.

As we prepare ourselves to be worthy of the gift of Jesus' resurrection during Lent and this coming Holy week, let us develop a more intense way of communicating with God with intimacy.
